CHICAGO, March 26, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- SABRE, the #1 brand of pepper spray, trusted by law enforcement worldwide, is proud to announce an ongoing partnership with C.O.P.S. (Concerns of Police Survivors).

"Considering the professional and personal relationships we have built with law enforcement agencies across the world over our 40 years, it only makes sense to support such a great cause as C.O.P.S.," said David Nance, CEO of SABRE.

SABRE donates to C.O.P.S. fallen officers families with patriotic pepper spray and gel products

In launching its new patriotic-themed pepper sprays beginning in February 2020, a percentage of the sales will be donated to C.O.P.S. to support the over 52,000 survivors of fallen police officers. "SABRE encourages consumers to go about their day more confidently and inspire them to live life to the fullest," said Nance. "It is our intention to help those left behind by providing them with hope and peace of mind in the best way possible."

"As a retired police officer, I know firsthand the quality of SABRE safety products, and appreciate their mission to keep people safe," said C.O.P.S. Executive Director, Dianne Berhard. "I can speak for the entire C.O.P.S. membership when I say we are honored to be chosen as one of SABRE's choice charities where their support continues to help surviving families and co-workers who have been affected by line-of-duty death."

ABOUT C.O.P.S.

Concerns of Police Survivors is a nationwide not-for-profit organization that has held the mission of rebuilding shattered lives since 1984. With 55 chapters across the country, members of C.O.P.S. are always prepared to help survivors when they need it, where they need it. C.O.P.S. has a national membership comprised of more than 52,000 individuals who have identified themselves as survivors. Unfortunately, that membership continues to grow as an average of 140-160 officers die each year in the line of duty.
